Winter sports hill open at Kent Park

The winter sports hill at F.W. Kent Park, including the rope tow and warming house, will be open today from 5 to 9 p.m.

Rod G. Dunlap, director for the Johnson County Conservation Board, said the "snow cover is not ideal, dry and blowing, but several areas appear suitable for sliding or skiing."

Noting the tow has been waiting for snow for two months, and "we've had the hill a long time, we are going to give it a try." Condition of the snow will determine further operation, he added.
