

Jack Pine Valley Ski Opening Delayed--No Snow

Bob Quaine, co-owner of Jack Pine Ski Valley, the Blue Water Area's first ski resort, said in order to open Sunday, "we'll need help from the weather-man."

Quaine said, "We planned to open Sunday, but we aren't able to make artificial snow since we still are looking for a shipment of parts to complete the construction of our snow making machine. The only way we'll be able to open Sunday is to have it snow."

He added, "We should be able to provide skiers with snow next week."
