

Sunday Ski Races Open to All on Moon Valley Hill

The downhill and slalom ski time in the downhill and slalom races on the Moon Valley course tomorrow are open to all amateur skiers, race officials announced today.

Events are being sponsored by the Bush Lake, Lone Lake, Glenwood and Columbia-Arlberg Clubs but they are open events. Contestants must register at the course before 1 p.m. Sunday. Winner will be determined by total contests.

A ski-tow will be in operation to haul the contestants about three blocks from the base to the top of the hill. More than 1,000 skiers have been at practice during the week, many of them planning to enter Sunday's races.

There will be events for men and for women.

The Moon Valley hill is on highway 212 just north of Shakopee.