

Ski Note

Ray Eichel, general manager for the Muskingum Watershed Conservancy District, has announced that the district's board of directors have decided to close its Atwood ski facilities. The Atwood Ski slope, located in Carroll County and adjacent to Atwood Lake Lodge, has been in operation since 1970.

Eichel pointed out that use of the ski facilities had not been as high as originally anticipated.

The recent winter conditions in this section of Ohio have limited the total number of days available for skiing and the District has not been able to operate the facility on a sound financial basis.

The District sincerely regrets this action and would like to thank the National Ski Patrol for their work in patrolling the area and all of the patrons who have used the area.
