

SKI QUEEN SPEAKS ON HALL PROGRAM

Mrs. Fraser Helps Promote World Championships

Mrs. Gretchen Fraser of Sun Valley, Ind., world's champion Olympic skier, will appear in Cleveland next Thursday for the third annual Ski Show in the Little Theater of Public Hall.

Proceeds will go to the National Ski Patrol, an organization that promotes ski safety.

Tickets for the program, which will include a movie of Sun Valley and a ski style show sponsored by Halle Bros., will be sold at the door. The Union Pacific Railroad is giving a door prize, a free all-expense "Learn to Ski" week at Sun Valley.

Mrs. Fraser, wife of Don Fraser, 1936 Olympic skier, will speak on behalf of the National Ski Association's plan to promote interest in the world ski championships next February at Lake Placid, N. Y. and Aspen, Col. This tournament is sponsored by the Federation Internationale de Ski, governing body of the sport.

Tickets for the show cost $1.25.

The Cleveland Ski Club, numbering 300 members, is planning to use its own ski hill this winter on Rockside Road in Valley View. A rope tow, lights for night skiing and a warming hut, are being assembled. The club also will run trips to Ligonier, Pa., Alleghany State Park, N. Y. and Old Forge, N. Y. Late in January, 30 members of the club will spend a week at Sun Valley.
